Your Role

As an investment intern you'll gain experience while working with some of the most influential and exciting technology leaders and founders. You will be able to learn from our fast-moving, dynamic team and at the same time gain insights into the exciting world of VC. You will help the team identify, research and invest in the best early stage PropTech, ConstructionTech and CleanTech Start-ups in Europe. You'll develop the ability to efficiently screen potential deals, evaluate Start-ups, analyze and understand new business models, markets and tech, manage the entire deal flow process and get a close up view of the 'companies of tomorrow'. As part of our team, you'll have the opportunity to represent SIGNA Innovations at both start-up and investor events, build your own network, and play a substantial role in supporting our founders on their journey.

We're looking for someone who:

- has completed a bachelor's degree or is currently studying for a master's degree in business, finance, economics, technology or other related courses (or has prior VC/Startup experience)
- has a high affinity for new technologies and innovative business models
- has an ability to think analytically and enjoys working in a close knit team and takes pleasure in interacting with people
- is able to develop an understanding for new concepts and has very good communication skills, and can thus actively contribute to team success
- has great knowledge of MS Office and very good written and verbal English & German proficiency
- is available for 3-6 months

What we can offer you:

- The opportunity to help founders build 'the next big thing!'
- A motivated, driven and highly qualified team
- A modern, dynamic and innovative working environment in the heart of Berlin
- In-depth insights into the venture capital market
- Opportunity to build your network through access to a large start-up and investor network
- Open communication, flat hierarchies and a high degree of personal responsibility

The SIGNA Group is a privately owned and managed investment company with a focus on the real estate, retail and media sectors.

We're not only one of Europe's most important real estate investors and district developers, but as Europe's leading investor in brick-and-mortar retail we also make a significant contribution to shaping vibrant, inspiring inner cities. In conjunction with our numerous online platforms, we're creating a 'marketplace of the future' that combines online and offline offers

SIGNA is convinced that digitization is a tremendous opportunity and intends to become a pioneer and driver of digital services and new business models. SIGNA Innovations' goal is to invest in start-ups and to accelerate their business models with capital, expertise and network. SIGNA Innovations is an early-stage industry focused venture capital investor in the DACH region with a focus on PropTech, ConstructionTech and CleanTech Start-ups.
